Schwartz Proposes Probe Of Hagerty In Television Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The man who ignited last year's dramatic Sherman Adams case now wants Congress to investigate White House press secretary James C. Hagerty.

Dr. Bernard Schwartz, a former House investigator, called for the probe Sunday after accusing Hagerty of stepping into a television case for political reasons. Hagerty immediately denied this.

"Mr. Schwartz was either misinformed or was deliberately lying," he said.

Makes Charge In Book

Schwartz, who is a New York University law professor, makes his charge against Hagerty in a forthcoming book, "The Professor and the Commissioners." Parts of the book were released Saturday.

Last year, the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee removed Schwartz as chief counsel. But, exploring some of his accusations and using files he has assembled, it launched investigations that led to the resignations of Adams, who was President Eisenhower's chief assistant, and Richard A. Mack, a federal communications commissioner.

The accusation against Hagerty involves a television station in the Albany-Schenectady area of New York and a series of decisions by the Federal Communications Commission.

Hagerty said the FCC had made its decision before he requested some information about it.

But Schwartz said, "The facts do show that three months after Mr. Hagerty intervened the FCC did reverse its original decision."

The case, as outlined by Hagerty's documents, followed this sequence:

On March 1, 1957, William J. Embler, a Republican and research consultant to the speaker of New York's State Assembly, wrote Hagerty protesting an FCC decision to change station WRGB from a very high frequency (VHF) station to an ultra high frequency station (UHF).

"As one who is not a stockholder in anything but is concerned with the success of the Republican party it would seem to me that some consideration should be given to the fact that such a change will leave many families without television because UHF can not reach them and will put many others to the expense of conversion or buying new sets," Embler wrote.

Hagerty Answers Letters

He followed with a similar note three days later. On March 5, Hagerty answered the letters, saying, "You do have a good point. I have passed your letter along to the interested people here and asked them for an answer."

The same day, Hagerty sent a

Gem Thief Stages $400,000 Haul In Miami Beach Hotel

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A thief, perhaps a gem expert, stole a reported $400,000 in diamonds, emeralds and other jewelry from the hotel suite of a vacationing New York auto rental magnate.

The jewelry was owned by Leon C. Greenbaum, chairman of the board of Hertz Car Rental Corp., his wife, and her sister, Mrs. Arthur Cole, also of New York.

Greenbaum told newsmen someone either overlooked or chose not to take some of the gems.

Mrs. Cole interrupted the interview with "I do not want any of this in the newspapers." She and her husband operate Mr. Mort-

Liner's Panel Studied, Seek Plunge Cause

NEW YORK (AP)—The instrument panel of the American Airlines plane which crashed into the East River came under close scrutiny again today by investigators seeking some definite clue to the cause of the crash.

The nose section and cockpit of the plane were recovered Saturday night. A Civil Aeronautics Board spokesman said the whole cockpit was in excellent shape. He said a clock on the panel was still running when it was pulled from the water.

The plane plunged into the water Tuesday night with the loss of 65 lives as it approached La Guardia Field. There were only eight survivors.

The retrieved cockpit yielded the body of the veteran pilot, Capt. Alfred De Witt, 59, of Decatur, Mich.

Three more bodies were recovered Sunday. They were identified as Dr. Robert Emerson, 55, of Urbana, Ill., research professor of botany at the University of Illinois; Benjamin Weinstein, of Great Neck, N.Y., president of the Judd Valve Co., of Long Island City, Queens; and Robert David Willemis, 33, of La Grange, Ill., a department manager for the brokerage firm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith.

The bodies of 32 victims are still missing.

Mother Denies Threat, Barred From Wedding

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Honeymooning today were a blonde divorcee and a wealthy industrialist who had obtained a court order barring his mother from the wedding.

Mrs. Tessie Purmort was not among the 30 guests who watched her son, Louis, and Mrs. Barbara Jean Thorndike exchange vows in a quiet religious ceremony Saturday night.

Purmort, 34, obtained a court order last week barring his mother from the ceremony. Purmort said his mother threatened to kill him if he married the attractive 26-year-old mother of two.

Mrs. Purmort denied this and added that she never expects to see her son again.

Milder Trend Due For Area

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Five-day forecast: Temperatures will range 3 to 4 degrees above normal high-low average of 38-21 in the western part of the state. Warmer Tuesday and Wednesday. Colder Thursday with little change thereafter. Rain Tuesday and Wednesday and again Friday totaling one-half to one inch.

Freezing Rain Slows Traffic In Wide Area

By The Associated Press

The major part of the nation slipped and slogged in ice, snow and rain today as winter's rough elements poured out a mixture of foul weather.

A cold wave stung the Northeast and Northern Midwest.

A treacherous area of freezing rain or drizzle extended over wide areas in the central part of the country.

Considerable fog blanketed many sections in the Midwest and across wide areas in the Gulf Coast region and South Atlantic states.

Ice glaze warnings were issued by the Weather Bureau to motorists and stockmen in the central plains area. Driving was extremely hazardous in many areas.

Arctic air gripped the North Atlantic states. Temperatures dropped far below zero in most areas from northern New York into New England.

The freezing rain or drizzle covered most of Iowa and southern Minnesota into northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin. It glazed streets and highways in eastern Kansas and parts of Indiana and Ohio.

Britain Reports Measles Rising

LONDON (UPI)—The worst epidemic of measles in nine years, and a sharp increase in influenza today filled hospitals to capacity and forced already busy doctors to work emergency hours.

The British Medical Journal said 41,000 cases of measles were reported in England and Wales during the first three weeks of January—compared with 9,000 for the same period in 1958. The epidemic showed no signs of abating.

School Board Shuns Appeal In Race Case

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Alexandria completes plans today for integration of three public schools. Tuesday, this northern Virginia city will become the state's third locality within eight days reluctantly to admit Negroes to classrooms in previously all-white schools.

State and local officials have expressed hope that the admission of nine Negro children to the Alexandria schools will be accomplished as peacefully as the entrance of 21 Negroes into Norfolk and Arlington schools a week ago.

While heavy police reinforcements accompanied integration at nearby Arlington's Stratford Junior High School last Monday, there have been no reports of special police preparations at Alexandria.

Local officials said they have no plans to appeal the integration order to the U.S. Supreme Court—a step taken by Arlington officials two weeks ago without success.

A last-ditch appeal for a stay of the District Court ruling was turned down Saturday by Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals at Baltimore.

Another event Tuesday may preface a further breach of Virginia's traditional school segregation policy. At Harrisonburg, a federal judge will hear a plea that Warren County High School at Front Royal be reopened immediately on an integrated basis.

Mobile Missile Going To Reich

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Mace missile, highly mobile, almost jam-proof and capable of skirting radar, is going to U.S. troops in Germany in the spring to replace the Matador.

The Matlin Co., which built the missile, said the Mace is a much improved version of the Matador—first operational guided missile delivered to the Air Force and now in front-line service in Germany, Korea and Formosa.

Exact operational ability is classified but Mace, like Matador, is a surface-to-surface missile with a range of more than 650 miles and a speed in the neighborhood of 650 m.p.h.

Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy said last month that the Strategic Air Command will include 14 wings of B52 heavy jet bombers—two more than had been shown under previously announced plans.

Reuther Sees U. S. Leadership Periled

Union Leader Says Policies Brought Loss

Views On Economy Given For Senate, House Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter Reuther told Congress today that different governmental policies could have pushed the nation's production more than 100 billion dollars higher in the past six years.

"This production that we have now forever lost could well have spelled the difference between an unchallenged continuation of United States world leadership and the threatened, uneasy position in which we find ourselves today," he said.

Outlines Program

Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers and an AFL-CIO vice president, outlined an extensive program of government activities he said would assure full employment and economic growth. His testimony was prepared for the Senate-House Economic Committee studying general economic trends.

Before the same group, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce contended that government policies are the greatest single cause of inflation, exceeding acts of both business and labor in that respect.

Reuther called on the government to work toward increased consumer buying power, extension of the Fair Labor Standards Act coverage to millions of workers in trade and services, raising the present $1 an hour minimum wage to at least $1.25, and a concerted program of federal aid to depressed areas.

The Chamber of Commerce urged a different approach.

The chamber said possible inflationary effects of private market power, whether of business or labor, are insignificant when compared to the inflation generated by government spending, taxing and debt policies.

Chamber Views Presented

Views of the chamber were presented by its assistant director of economic research, Walter Fackler.

Both the chamber and the National Assn. of Manufacturers called for federal tax revamping.

Fackler said in his prepared testimony the present tax system penalizes success, discourages initiative and restricts investment.

He also recommended new approaches to federal-state relations, describing the present programs of federal grants to states as wasteful. He suggested encouragement of state and local governments to provide educational and community facilities.

Cyprus Issue Pact Drafted

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—Greece and Turkey were reported near agreement today on a draft constitution for an independent Cyprus, with the Turkish minority to have a veto over matters of foreign relations, defense and internal security.

The tentative charter would give the North Atlantic Treaty Organization control of military bases on the British crown colony island in the eastern Mediterranean. But it has not yet been agreed whether Greek or Turkish troops will replace those parts of the British garrisons to be withdrawn.

Police said John Truitt, 25, and Handy Jefferson, 19, both of Bridgeville, were freed in $500 bond on charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Jobless Total Hike Seen By Economists

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unemployment is climbing back close to the five-million, economists reported today. They said a figure approaching that mark may be shown in the government's January report, due out Tuesday.

Joblessness normally rises in the winter months because of the weather's effect on construction, farm and other outdoor activities. The five-million mark has not been exceeded since last April, when the jobless count was 5,120,000.

But in recent months job idleness has been running a little ahead of corresponding months a year ago. In December the total was 4,108,000 or 734,000 more than the 3,374,000 in December 1957.

The figure for January 1958 was 4,494,000, a jump of well over a million from December.

If the January 1959 idle total increases by anything like the million or so normally registered in that month, the total will be close to or over five million—and well over the figure for a year ago.

The figures indicate that while business has improved substantially from its recession depths, the job picture still is gloomy.

This in itself is not too surprising. Employers normally don't increase their work force very fast in a recovery period. They cautiously increase working hours of workers already employed, working them even overtime hours at premium rates rather than hire new workers.

As of now about one out of every 17 able-bodied workers wanting a job can't find one. Similarly, one of eight single workers is unemployed. Among married workers the idle ratio is one out of 20.

Worker earnings, like prices, are at record levels. This means that those workers that have jobs are doing all right, many of them enjoying big chunks of extra premium overtime pay.

BRIDGEVILLE, Del. (AP)—A 20-year-old Georgetown area youth has been accused of raping a 15-year-old Salisbury, Md. girl after a drinking party at a juke box repair shop.

Repeats Bid For Parleys With Soviet

West In Agreement On Action If Reds Block Berlin Road

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the Western Allies have agreed generally on procedures to follow if the Soviet Union invokes "physical means" to block access to Berlin.

He also renewed the West's offer to talk about a general settlement.

"We are willing to talk with the Soviets in a sincere effort to reach agreements," he said.

Dulles returned to Washington after talks at London, Paris and Bonn.

"Unity Reconfirmed"

In a prepared statement Dulles told newsmen his talks abroad "reconfirmed the unity and firmness of our position."

"We do not accept any substitution of East Germans for the Soviet Union in its responsibilities toward Berlin and its obligations to us," he said.

"We are resolved that our position in, and access to, West Berlin shall be preserved."

"We are in general agreement as to the procedures we shall follow if physical means are invoked to interfere with our rights in this respect."

Dulles talked to the heads of government and foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany and with Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak of the Atlantic Pact (NATO).

Dulles was to report to President Eisenhower today.

Eisenhower returned Sunday night from a Georgia Quail hunting holiday and was met at the airport by Under Secretary of State C. Douglas Dillon, who presumably gave him an initial report on Dulles' mission.

In advance of Dulles' arrival officials said they were sure he had laid the groundwork for a speed-up in Allied policy planning looking toward a spring foreign ministers' meeting with the Soviet Union.

On a week-long trip, Dulles conferred with the leaders of Britain, France and West Germany during successive visits to London, Paris and Bonn.

Dulles left Bonn Sunday with a hint that some slight conciliatory move toward the Soviets may be in the making, but only if the U.S.S.R. also is in a conciliatory mood.

"Will Be United, Firm"

His series of talks last week, Dulles said at the Bonn airport, "will help to assure that we shall be united and firm for our rights. That does not exclude being conciliatory, but it does exclude merely making concessions for which there is no counterpart."

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, was pictured by a German spokesman as opposed to giving something away in the negotiations without getting anything in return.

Both German and American spokesmen also said the Western powers are still far from agreement on a detailed policy on how to meet the Soviet challenge in Berlin.

Meanwhile Allied representatives here completed the drafting of a note to the Soviet Union proposing that a foreign ministers' meeting be held to deal with a wide range of German issues.

The Western foreign ministers may meet a couple more times before assembling with the Soviet. May 27 was originally fixed by the Soviets for turning over to East Germany their powers controlling allied access to Berlin. The Soviet Union also has called for Allied abandonment of West Berlin.

Engineers Blast Ice Gorge, Meadville Flood Peril Ends

Church Leaders Gather For World Conference

GENEVA (UPI)—Religious leaders from all over the world gathered here today to review the common problems facing churches of the Orthodox, Anglican and Protestant faiths.

The occasion was the semi-annual executive committee meeting of the World Council of Churches, which embraces 171 Christian churches, other than the Roman Catholics, in some 30 countries.

Future WCC policy probably will be heavily influenced by the decisions of the committee at its five-day meeting.

Top interest was centered on a planned discussion of Pope John XXIII's call for a worldwide church gathering, probably in 1961, to discuss ways of increasing Christian unity.

The committee may indicate some of the subjects the world's non-Roman Christians would like to discuss in any meeting with the Vatican.

The committee meetings at WCC world headquarters here will be held in strict secrecy. They end Feb. 13.

Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, U. S. Lutheran leader, will preside at the discussions.

Other Americans on the committee are Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, Presbyterian; Prof. George Florovsky, Orthodox; Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, Methodist; and Dean Liston Pope, Congregationalist.

Episcopal Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill is expected to sit in at the committee sessions in his capacity as one of the five presidents of the WCC.

Five Children Die In Blaze

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "The smoke was so thick that I lost the children," moaned Mrs. Mildred Plummer.

She had tried to save her five nieces and nephews. But they suffocated Sunday in a pre-dawn fire that damaged their two-story brick home in southwest Philadelphia.

Mrs. Plummer ran from the smoke-filled house, but came back when she discovered the children were still inside.

note, marked "personal," to George C. McConaughy, then chairman of the FCC. It said:

"I received the attached letter from a personal friend of mine in Albany. I thought you would like to see it. Is there any way I can answer him?"

In a long letter March 13, McConaughy answered Hagerly. He explained the FCC had embarked on a policy of making television areas either all VHF or all UHF. Since most of the stations in the Albany-Schenectady area were UHF, the commission wanted WRGB to change to UHF also.

Hagerly said there was no further correspondence in the case.

The FCC later changed its proposal and, after a series of decisions, allowed WRGB to remain a VHF station. It balanced the situation, however, by adding a second VHF station to the area.

Spurns Suggestion

Negro Group Leader Will Not Give Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said Sunday night that asking the NAACP to step out of the integration battle in the South is out of the question.

"We cannot do it and we shall not do it," he said. It is the same as asking "that we and our children sit by the side of the road while others zoom past us into the space age."

Wilkins spoke on news comment after Chet Huntley's NBC-TV program. Huntley suggested in a television editorial last week that the NAACP step aside in hopes that militant white opposition would then atrophy, and moderate whites would be more successful.

On the program, a leading segregationist, Southern newspaper editor Thomas Waring, agreed with Huntley, but for different reasons.

"The overwhelming majority of Southern people are unalterably opposed to mixing races in public schools. They are opposed to it now or later," Waring said.

Waring is editor of the Charleston (S.C.) News and Courier.

Wilkins said moderate groups are free to operate at any time in the South, particularly in areas where integration has not been attempted, but there has been no sign that they exist.

Waring said integration would result in lower school standards, and that minor incidents of classroom discipline would be magnified into racial problems.

He termed integration an experiment in sociology, and compared it to prohibition and the social ills it produced.

Wild Bill Donovan Dies In Walter Reed Hospital

By JOE F. KANE

WASHINGTON — Maj. Gen. William J. (Wild Bill) Donovan, who directed the government's daring intelligence operations during World War II, died Sunday. He was 76.

Death of the former director of the Office of Strategic Services was attributed to a heart ailment. He had been in Walter Reed Army Hospital here for some time.

Donovan won the Medal of Honor for leading the famed "Fighting 69th" regiment of the Rainbow Division in World War I. His fighting prowess became a legend of the war.

His nickname of "Wild Bill" stemmed from the exacting methods he used in training his men and the aggressive example of spirit and vigor he set for them.

The OSS operations Donovan headed during World War II were worldwide in scope. The organization conducted important research at home and daring exploits abroad, many of them behind enemy lines.

President Harry S. Truman in 1946 decorated Donovan with the oak leaf cluster to the Distinguished Service Medal he received during World War I.

Donovan was defeated in 1932 when he ran as the Republican candidate for governor of New York. The winner was Herbert H. Lehman.

A native of Buffalo, N.Y., Donovan was an outstanding quarterback while attending Columbia University.

Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, paid tribute to Donovan as "the father of central intelligence in the United States."

Donovan's wife, the former Ruth Runsey, along with a brother, the Rev. Vincent Donovan, a Dominican priest, were at his bedside when he died. Surviving with

Two Airmen Break Record For Endurance

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Don't anybody mention flying to Robert Timin and John Cook for a while. They've had enough — almost 65 days aloft.

They landed their light plane Saturday afternoon, touching land for the first time since Dec. 4 when they took off in quest of a world's endurance flight record.

They got it, too, by nearly 15 days. Their official mark was 64 days, 22 hours and 21 minutes.

The old record was 50 days and 18 minutes set last September by Jim Heth and Bill Burkhardt of Dallas.

Their single engine plane was refueled each day from a pickup truck going 90 m.p.h. along a desert road.

Young Girls Puzzled At Art On Exhibition In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—"What is 'Le Sombre Memento' by Wilfredo Lam?" You tell us," said the two well-scrubbed little girls, 12 and 14.

They were standing before an object on a wall of the Baltimore Museum of Art. It consisted of twelve pieces of wood, in varying degrees of decomposition, with assorted holes. Two pieces of chicken wire. The whole thing was held together by assorted pegs and painted red, black and mud.

An answer to the what-is-it query came from Mrs. Beatrice Perry of Washington, who officiated at the showing of 20 works by six artists.

"Why, that is a construction by the artist, Jose Bermudez," she told the moppets. "It is called 'Alarm'."

It was Mrs. Perry who was responsible for a notable decision by Baltimore customs last October that four pieces of iron abstraction she imported were, in fact, art—not scrap metal. Prices on the works exhibited yesterday ranged up to a $3,000 a state visit, it was announced of tag on a green painting called "Lullaby" today.

Lawyers Still Have Majority In Congress

51 Manufacturing Executives Form Second Biggest Unit

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—Although they suffered a slight loss in last year's elections, lawyers still have a working majority of both the Senate and the House in the 86th Congress.

They outnumber fertilizer distributors 288 to 1, congressional biographies listing only one member in the latter category. He is Rep. D. S. Saund (D-Calif.), who makes no bones about the fact that his business is "commercial fertilizer distributor."

Lawyers have 59 of the Senate's 98 seats and 229 of the 435 in the House. In the last Congress there were 56 lawyers in the Senate and 234 in the House.

The presence of so many lawyers may account for the fact that it takes the proverbial "Philadelphia lawyers" to interpret so many acts of Congress.

Among the more than 20 congressional occupations listed by the legislative reference service are 51 business or manufacturing executives. They constitute the second largest group, with 9 in the Senate and 42 in the House.

The field of journalism, including radio and television, is represented by 8 senators and 23 representatives. Agriculture has 5 senators and 20 representatives, while education has 7 senators and 18 representatives.

There are three accountants and six advertising and public relations specialists, all in the House. The Senate has one banker, while the House has at least five.

No dentists are listed in either branch, although there are seven doctors or pharmacists in the House.

Three senators and 16 representatives are listed as having made a career out of being public officials.

Five members, all in the House, have been labor leaders.

Alaska's two senators proudly proclaim in their biographies that they have been gold miners.

Miscellaneous categories include one chemist, two funeral directors, three clergymen, an inventor, a landscape consultant, a linguist, a forester and a restaurateur.

Snow Hill Tax Rate Is Static

SNOW HILL, Md. (AP)—The city tax rate of 90 cents per $100 of assessable basis will remain in force next year.

The rate continuation is attributed by Mayor B. Herman Adkins to the city's low rate of indebtedness. All that remains is $12,000 on the water system.

Looking ahead to payment of the debt in two years, city officials plan to advance $5,000 of the $19,000 necessary for a new pump for the volunteer fire company.

Steel Leads U. S. Business Recovery

By SAM DAWSON AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The steel industry today is stiffening the backbone of the business recovery. Sales are up. New orders are up. Production is rising. And profits in the last few months have shown a spectacular recovery from the low point of a year ago.

Most steel companies report impressive gains in net income after taxes in the final three months of 1958. The increases over the year ago figures range as high as 200 per cent, although the gain for the industry as a whole is around 25 per cent.

But the fourth quarter spurt in income still couldn't entirely offset the losses of the first three quarters. The majority of steel companies the bleak months of early 1958.

Of 23 steel concerns reporting so far, including the largest ones, 20 report 1958 earnings running behind 1957. All but two small ones, however, managed to end 1958 in the black—and this despite the fact that the industry in the trough of the recession was operating at less than half capacity.

The ups and downs of the industry are charted in the profit statement of recent years. Combined the 23 report 1958 earnings as $745,390,000, compared with $1,069,810,000 in 1957. This was a drop of 30.3 per cent. The 1957 earnings, in turn, were 3.4 per cent higher than those of 1956, which were off 10.5 per cent from 1955. In that year of the big business boom steel industry profits soared 74.3 per cent over the year.

How could the steel industry show a profit instead of a loss in 1958, with output cut back over most of the period, and even the sales increases of the last few months much less impressive than the rise in profits?

Divining Rod Aids Science Locate Water

Also Find Mineral Deposits By Using Pull Of Gravity

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Scientists using a crystal divining rod are becoming increasingly adept at finding buried treasure.

Like all practitioners of the ancient art of divination, they enlist the help of unseen powers.

The buried treasure they seek is in the form of valuable mineral deposits and precious water supplies.

The unseen power they invoke is the pull of gravity.

Watching for oil and ore with gravity meters has been going on for years. But just recently, according to the National Science Foundation (NSF), geologists and geophysicists engaged in this kind of "underground mapping" have made a "significant advance."

Where they used to employ gear transportable only by truck, they now do better with a handy contraption weighing eight pounds or less.

Whereas they used often to be confused by their data, with improved interpretation techniques, the are now able to chart more accurately buried bedrock, earthquake fault blocks, and long hidden ancient basins and channels likely to contain minerals or water.

In a region newly opened to exploration, these techniques might be used to map quake-prone areas as well as to discover oil and salt domes and other mineral resources.

Weights Quartz

The divining rod consists of a fine balance which accurately weighs a small bit of quartz. As the balance is moved from place to place, the quartz gains or loses weight as the pull of gravity becomes greater or less.

The pull of gravity varies from place to place according to changes in the nature of materials in the earth's crust. A mass of dense igneous rock, for example, exerts greater gravitational attraction than less compact sedimentary stuff. Granite or basalt pulls harder than shale or sandstone.

Today's crystal balances can detect changes in the value of gravity of less than one part in a million. The balance in its container stands about 18 inches high and is about 10 inches in diameter. To use it, all you need to do is unpack it and put it on the ground, making sure it is level. A while back U.S. geologists used this divining rod to check on Cuban deposits of chromite, the ore of chromium. They were able to tell the Cubans where to drill, and as a result that country's chromite reserves have been thoroughly measured.

With the advent of the space age, boron becomes a promising, high-energy fuel for rockets. Gravity measurements revealed long-buried basins in the Mohave Desert which turned out to be rich in boron.

Thanks to the crystal divining rod, the boron is now being mined.

U. S. Troops In Germany To Get Mace

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Mace missile, highly mobile, almost jump-proof and capable of skirting radar, is going to U.S. troops in Germany in the Spring, to replace the Matador.

The Martin Co., which built both missiles, said the Mace is a much improved version of the Matador—first operational guided missile delivered to the Air Force and now in front-line service in Germany, Korea and Formosa.

Exact operational ability is classified but Mace, like Matador, is a surface-to-surface missile with a range of more than 650 miles and a speed in the neighborhood of 650 m.p.h.

It is guided by a map-matching guidance system called ATRAN, developed by Goodyear Aircraft Corp.

Martin said Mace is the first missile reaching operational status overseas to be built under the Air Force weapon system plan. This makes a prime contractor responsible for developing a complete missile package—launcher, ground handling equipment, everything.

Inconsistencies

WHEN POLITICIANS get onto the subject of taxes, anything is likely to be said. We get into comedy, and fantasy, too. In Washington, President Eisenhower keeps voicing hope that no new taxes will be needed. To that end he's trying to put pressure on a heavily Democratic Congress by muttering frequently about "spenders." The Democrats point out, however, that in recent sessions under their control they have actually cut back many presidential budget requests. And they note that despite the President's current bid for a balanced budget, he has had four deficit years out of six. Nobody really admits to being the spender, but over the years the federal budget keeps going up and up.

AND THEN THE Democrats—who will try to embarrass the Republican administration on the money issue at every chance—turn around and declare for big new sums for housing, education and other services. Not to mention defense. Indeed, greater concern for these problems, a concern they want translated into hard cash, is widely accepted as party policy. Let's check in now in Albany, where newly chosen GOP Gov. Nelson Rockefeller is wrestling with the budget of the nation's biggest state. He says he found a financial mess that could only get worse if new revenue sources weren't developed fast. So he came up with a 275-million-dollar program in added taxes to fill the hole. About a fourth of the new money would go for education under already fixed state legal commitments.

BUT HERE THE Democrats, who nationally favor more for education, are bucking the new governor on his tax plans. They say he's trying to soak the poor. They say this mainly because he wants to reduce income tax exemptions for a married couple from the present $2,500 to $1,200, which would add about 300,000 to 400,000 people to the tax rolls at the low end. But the proposed New York system is exactly the same as that now in use by the federal government. The Democrats installed that in wartime 'way back when. When Washington does it, they don't call it soaking the poor. Politicians are not fabled for consistency in any field. But their inconsistencies in the matter of taxes, budget and economy make a garish tapestry that would hardly grace any legislative hall in the land.

THE INTERNAL Revenue Service is spreading bigger nets than ever this year to catch potential income tax evaders. Let's hope there will be few stories about the big ones that got away.

Bipartisan

THOSE WITH a taste for wry humor may be able to squeeze a few laughs from the hassle about who is ahead in the missiles race. The argument does have amusing aspects, largely because those who have been most vocal on the subject are unable or unwilling to provide figures to support their contentions. The essential thing to keep in mind is that this matter, for all its comic overtones, is grimly serious. Our progress relative to that of the Soviet Union is vitally important, if only because the deterrent value of nuclear explosives depends in large measure on our predictable ability to deliver them swiftly, accurately and in overwhelming abundance. There is no doubt that U.S. missiles development has been speeded up since the first Sputnik arose. The general public has no way of telling how fast we are moving in this field, however; it has no means of knowing whether we are moving fast enough. The public, in short, lacks the data on which sound judgment can be made. Congress apparently is not much better off in this regard. What both Congress and the public need is a sober, bipartisan evaluation of our total capability to defend ourselves. Sen. Lyndon Johnson has promised such an evaluation, to be undertaken by the Senate's preparedness and space committees. If he and his colleagues are able to make this study and present its results without a lot of bipartisan bickering, they will have done much to clarify a situation that now is filled with confusion and contradictions.

SOME persons concerned about the number of ring fatalities advocate that prize fighting be killed. Wait, and it may do the job itself.

Ike's Tax Plan Faces Tough Sledding

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower, in his effort to raise more Federal revenue without increasing the general tax rate, managed to step on a perennially sore toe, the oil and gas industry, and as a result he may have to accept another big deficit following the current year's whopper.

The precariously balanced 1960 Eisenhower budget called for new revenue from two sources. One was from a second increase in postal rates, which would have sent the price of mailing a first-class letter to five cents. The other was a cent and a half per gallon increase in the Federal tax on gasoline.

THE LAST session of Congress increased postal rates substantially. It was a brave action in an election year. It has been obvious ever since the new Congress came into office that it was in no mood to lack another increase on the nation's postage bill.

Now it is becoming apparent that an increase in the Federal gasoline tax is going to have tough sledding. Without a very great amount of Presidential pressure, it is unlikely that it will be approved.

Present Goal To Refine Earth Satellites

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Practical uses for unmanned space vehicles are being given intense study by military research teams. Long before man finds out how to accommodate himself to conditions beyond the earth's atmosphere, scientists believe that satellites can be put to useful work for earth-bound men.

The fields which now seem to offer most promise are military surveillance, communication, navigation, and weather observation and forecasting.

These things aren't going to be achieved in the next year or two — maybe not even in five or more.

This year's program for the Advanced Research Projects Agency in the Pentagon calls for the launching of 12 to 15 test satellites from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. They will have payloads of from 300 to 3,000 pounds. But Roy W. Johnson, head of ARPA, concedes there will be failures in some attempts.

TOP PRIORITY is now given to military reconnaissance satellites. The first of a series of six of these "seeing-eye" vehicles is tentatively scheduled for early 1960.

If an agreement could be worked out with Russia for the use of these satellites under President Eisenhower's "open sky" inspection proposals, they would be legitimized. Until such time they might constitute spying. So they are being developed in secrecy.

The major technical problem is to build accurate guidance and time scheduling into today's free-flight satellites. They must be made to go where man wants them to go, instead of just circling the earth at random altitudes.

Next to guidance, the problem is one of making sure that cameras and scanning antennae are always pointed at the earth. The satellites must be able to do what high-flying aircraft do now on photographic missions. The objective is to keep enemy ground

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — You wake up in the country in a snore of fog, the offshore horns moaning and crying in their timed intervals. Old Bullfrog being the main one in the channel out to Long Island Sound. Every 40 seconds, right on the dot, his basso voice gives out its warning and as you throw some clothes on you hear a sudden shrill whistle as from a small vessel come upon a sudden crisis.

Nothing happens after that, so you assume that whatever it was has ended. You bolt down some coffee, go to the car and start to town and hear the news of the airliner which crashed itself in the oily, dirty, dank waters of the East River with a probable loss of 65 lives or more.

Your car radio spells out the disaster in local terms: this or that New Yorker, this manufacturer, that TV executive, a child from Long Island.

YOU SWEEP in past La Guardia airport and in the faint haze you see the gaunt, giant derrick on a barge dipping its iron beak down into the water. Somewhere beneath the surface the wreckage lies and undoubtedly there is a diver down there attaching steel cables and chains to the torn fuselage.

You cannot loiter on the parkway and go on up to the Triboro Bridge and soon lose the image of the salvage derrick in the lightly drifting fog.

IN MANHATTAN you turn down Third Avenue and at 44th Street you find a parking meter space, park in it and walk to the Chrysler Building where you and Wiggington, a Pan-American Airways executive, are to meet. He is hub-deep in telephones because a PAA jettison, inbound from Paris, has dived 22,000 feet while over the ocean during some dislocation of the automatic pilot mechanism.

It pulled out into secure flight at 6,000 feet and, naturally, PAA and all other airlines want to know how that happened so that it can be corrected and never happen again. He tells you that Gene Kelly, the dance director and dancer, was aboard along with a lot of fashion writers.

WHILE HE gets facts and results straightened out by telephone, you glance at the papers and see that it has been an oddly disastrous 18 hours for aviation: the East River crash, the long dive over the ocean and the death of colorful, warm old Jack Frye in a car accident.

NEW YORK—Castro's convertible. Everybody tries to open him up into something else. Everybody has his own idea of what the bearded Cuban revolutionary leader is really like, inside. He's on more radio and television programs than the phrase "and now a word from our sponsor." Every program interprets him differently.

The mail I've received in the wake of a trip to Havana and a talk with him, and with his friends, and a look at his trial of Maj. Sosa Blanco, ranges all the way from "he's the greatest since Simon Bolivar" to "lose that bum, he's redder than a herring."

BENTLEY Jenkins of the Bronx suggests several new angles. One is that Castro "is making a lot of sense" even though "he may be a little nuts—don't forget Batista had him in solitary for seven months and he got the water drip torture, too."

An English friend with business connections in Cuba assures me that Castro works for Batista, who folded up his army and let Castro in just to take the heat off himself.

ANOTHER friend, calling from Havana, swears that Castro has dispatched 5,000 of his bearded ones secretly to Costa Rica and will use that friendly democratic country as a staging base for his "liberation" of the people of Nicaragua—which is controlled by the Somozas, one of them a West Point graduate. All sorts of stories.

"WHAT IS MORE important today than the true colors of Castro is that this country has given refuge to, among others, former Cuban Sen. Rolando Masferrer," Mr. Jenkins continues.

"There is little question in my mind that Masferrer is already in contact with other Batista people, particularly in the Miami area, and that a little assassination party is in the process of being formed. Masferrer who once command-die, this is the most bizarre, since he was a flyer of flyers. Also, two armed services planes have gotten into trouble during the same period and it almost seems as though some occult force had been at work on aviation.

WIGGINGTON gets his task done and you walk over to Danny's Hideaway in 45th Street and have a disciplined lunch of coffee and shirred eggs, a spartan order designed to keep you both alert and not logged down with vitamins and bulk.

Neither of you mention the pile of aviation troubles and you talk, instead, of the differences between West and East Berlin, the former area of happy people in a clean sector doing their jobs and enjoying life, the latter a grim and gray area of grim and gray people moving among still uncleaned rubble and ruin, their faces unhappy and strained. He describes his bus trip through East Berlin, during which he looked for but could not find one smiling countenance, one face with any hope in it.

YOU GO ON TO talk about Jesse Boynton, PAA's executive at Beirut an old New Jersey friend, who for too long has been in the Middle East and for whom you have a real affection as well as for his lovely wife Emmie.

Emmie was to go to Damascus at first opportunity and get a Crusader's jacket for your bride, this being a garment unchanged in cut and fashion since the days of the Crusaders. But since none has come from them, you assume Emmie, with three children to mind and tend, hasn't had time to go over to Damascus.

YOU FINISH lunch with Bob and you both walk out into a soupy mid-afternoon, the skyline of Manhattan blurred and soft in the wreaths of semi-fog. You walk him a block to your car and get into it and drive Westward to your typewriter, musing on the way that in spite of disasters, crashes, near misses and general disorders, if you had to go 7,000 or 1,000 miles right now you'd do it by plane, any line's modern plane, and never give the news a second thought.

This, you think may be quixotic of you, but if you are going to worry about a mode of transportation, the automobile is the one to worry about. It is the real killer.

THE TASK of turning sea water into fresh water cheaply has baffled man since the time of Aristotle. Queen Elizabeth I of England, who wanted her fleet to be able to stay at sea for months, had a standing offer of $28,000 to anyone who could make the ocean potable at a low cost.

One reason the fight game is short of recruits is that only two states, Idaho and Oregon, permit boxing in high school. But interscholastic wrestling is popular in several states.

Scientists have found the human eye can distinguish 100,000 colors. The ones it has the most trouble with are the three found in traffic lights.

It was Frank Moore Colby who observed, "I have found some of the best reasons I ever had for remaining at the bottom simply by looking at the men at the top."

WASHINGTON — There hasn't been much of a turn-over in the Eisenhower Cabinet, although only three of the originals —State's Dulles, Agriculture's Benson, and the P. O. S. Summerfield—are left at that. But of late there has been a spate of replacements among Presidential appointees in the second and third echelons. The assistant secretaries, deputy secretaries and undersecretaries seem to feel that being beholden solely to Ike for their jobs limits their future.

It is comparatively easy to fill the vacancies, but not for long. The replacements apparently began thinking of the future too and have to be replaced. This imposes a burden not only upon the Administrative branch of Government, but also the Legislative. At these levels, appointments have to be made with the "advice" and "consent" of the Senate, although in actual practice the White House will settle for the consent and waive the advice.

AS A RESULT, hardly a day goes by that a Senate committee does not receive a request from 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue to okay the appointment of a new sub-Cabinet member. Many Senators are beginning to feel that too much of their time is taken up looking into, and passing upon, the qualifications of replacements for high underlings.

One of those who is weary indeed of this constant drain upon his time, insight, and emotions is Senator George A. Smathers, of Florida. He was presiding at a session of the Senate Finance Committee the other day when T. Graydon Upton, an impressive 50-year-old Philadelphia banker, appeared before it.

Upton's mission was to woo its approval of his nomination as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

The committee was sufficiently impressed with Upton to okay him, but not before Senator Russell B. Long, of Louisiana, subjected him to a lengthy inquisition about his habits and general steadiness.

Concurrently, chairman Smathers, who had been through the operation countless times before, fell into a torpor.

"How long," Long asked the banker at long last, "do you plan to stay in this post?"

The banker met his inquisitor's gaze with a look as convincing as a guaranteed trust. "I promise to stay for two years," he said.

This aroused Senator Smathers from his reverie. "Oh, yes," he agreed dreamily, "that would be the maximum Republican time."

ARMY CHIEF of Staff General Maxwell D. Taylor recommended an Army of 925,000 men. Congress cut it to 900,000, and the Budget Bureau reduced it further to 870,000. Nevertheless, when he appeared before the House Armed Services Committee the other day, General Taylor turned very cagey when asked if he thought the Army had enough men.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, of Louisiana, told General Taylor he realized he was under a gag. Taylor said he wasn't conscious of any gag, but refused to be led into a flat statement that he considered the Army under strength. They sparred with everything, including the most atrocious pun of the season.

The Louisianaian, who pronounces his name, "A-Bear," exposed himself to the punitive attack as follows:

Mr. Hebert: Now you don't have to answer this question. Do you think right now that the Army has got the full strength it needs for the defense of the country?

Gen. Taylor: It is not making the contribution which I would like to see it make.

Mr. Hebert: You are more gifted and talented in semantics than I am. But I am trying to speak for the man on the street that understands this language that I am talking.

Gen. Taylor: One is bound to approach A-Bear trap with diffidence, Mr. A-Bear.

Council Lifts Ban On Water At Hyndman

HYNDMAN — The Hyndman Borough Council has lifted most restrictions on the use of water in the borough and at the same time moved toward a long-range solution to the community's pressing water problem.

With the town's reservoirs at adequate levels once more, the council adopted a resolution removing the water restrictions which had been in force since the middle of December. At that time, Burgess Walter Miller declared a state of emergency and restrictions were placed on the use of water for clothes washing and the showers in the Hyndman-Londonderry High School were shut off.

Burgess Miller said that the council had decided to rescind the alternate-days washing schedule. He said that the showers at the high school were turned back on about a week ago.

However, Miller appealed on behalf of the council for the town's residents to hold down their water consumption as much as possible. He noted that the water ban still is in force on the use of hoses.

Miller extended his thanks to the borough residents for the excellent cooperation shown during the emergency period.

On the long-range problem, Borough Water Commissioner Ben Leydig revealed that the Gwynn Engineering Co. of Altoona has already conducted surveys and made sketches for new reservoirs. However, he and the council cautioned that there is much to consider, before any decision can be made on such a large and costly project.

Burgess Miller said that the council is attacking the problem from all angles to assure the town an adequate water supply. He expressed the belief that some solution would soon be found, but that it might not necessarily involve the construction of new reservoirs.

Nuclear Reactor Station Construction Plans Set

Construction of a nuclear reactor station in neighboring Bedford County, Pa., will start in April, according to Louis H. Roddis Jr., president of the Pennsylvania Electric Company.

The plant will be built along the Raystown Branch of the Juniata River. Roddis explained, and will be hooked on to the Saxton plant of the Penn Electric firm. The actual site of the reactor plant is about three-quarters of a mile downstream from Saxton.

Roddis said the reactor will help generate steam at the Saxton plant and should provide a lift for the economy of the area. Explaining that the nuclear reactor plant will offer no threat to Central Pennsylvania's coal industry, Roddis said the primary product of the new plant will be "knowledge."

He added that such a plant, producing electric power through nuclear fission, would not be economical in view of low coal prices in the area.

Supplement To Coal

Roddis continued that while nuclear energy has a vast potential as a new source of energy, its competition with coal will be a displacement.

Cost of the atomic plant project has been set at $12,000,000, and it is estimated that it will take 30 months to construct. It was explained that the plant is intended as a research and experimental unit for five years, face a scheduled appearance of the 17-year locust in 1961.

The female locust is very destructive to young plants. John T. Johnson warned Saturday that tree growers in Grant, Pendleton and Hardy counties face a scheduled appearance of the 17-year locust in 1961.

Single trees can be protected by covering them with a thin cloth, while large tree planting may be protected by special spray, Johnson said.

The locust does not appear at the same time throughout West Virginia. Pendleton and the extreme southern portions of Grant and Hardy will be in the affected area in 1961, while northern and central areas of the state, along with the remainder of Hardy and Grant Counties will be hit in 1965.

Johnson said the Northern Panhandle will be in for an invasion of the locust in 1968.

The earliest form of insurance consisted of risk policies for ships in 1583.

No Radioactive Waste

Heat produced in the nuclear reactor will be used to drive one of the three generators at the Saxton plant. Existing boilers will be remodeled so that heat from them, as well as from the reactor, can be used as desired. Roddis explained that there is no radioactive waste from such a plant as will be built near Saxton, and described the installation as "safe as a coal burning plant."

Roddis, former deputy director of Reactor Development for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, said his company's primary goals are to supply the best possible electric service and to stimulate the economic growth of the area it serves. He claims to foresee that coal and the atom will become Pennsylvania's "Prosperity Twins."

Nuclear Power Costly

In predicting a bright future for the coal industry, Roddis pointed out that expected demands for electricity will increase about 150 per cent in the next 15 years, and that it will require at least 300 million tons of coal to generate this power. That amount of coal is nearly 125 per cent more than is being used at present.

The Penn Electric president branded as a serious misconception the thought that nuclear power is cheap power. He pointed out that it costs more to build a nuclear power plant than a conventional one, and that electricity produced by fission is considerably more expensive.

Bedford May Get Catholic School Soon

BEDFORD — The Catholic Church has applied for a building permit to erect a large school in samples will be given out at the 12th annual PTA meeting.

The church, through Most Rev. Howard J. Carroll, Bishop of Altoona-Johnstown Diocese, applied for a permit to erect a 110-by-230-foot building at West Penn and South Thomas streets.

The land proposed for the new school is now vacant. Two dwellings there were condemned and razed several years ago, and the land has served as a playground for neighborhood children.

Borough Secretary Helen Cuppett said the application was made by Rev. Father Edward McConnell, pastor of St. Thomas Church, and will not be affected by the borough zoning ordinance adopted last week. She said Father McConnell made application after being informed of the zoning ordinance plans.

The site is within the business district classification of the zoning ordinance as now written.

Busiest Day Of W. Va. Legislature Scheduled

By BILL BARRETT

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A vote was scheduled today in the State Senate on a proposed constitutional amendment that would remove from the governor the authority to decide the agenda for the odd-year, 30-day legislative sessions.

It was among 27 bills at passage stage in the House and Senate. Among the others were two revenue producing measures including extension of the use tax—a form of the consumers sales tax—to temporary businesses such as contracting and the raising of fees for voluntary patients at clinics operated by state mental institutions.

The busiest day of the session was expected, what with heavy work in formal sessions, increased committee activity and a House Democratic caucus to determine support for tax measures.

Senate President Ralph J. Beane proposed the constitutional amendment. It would submit to the voters in November, 1960, the question of whether the Legislature alone should determine what items of business should be considered at 30-day budget sessions.

Benefits Hearing Set

Under present constitutional provisions the governor can include such items as he deems necessary in a call issued 10 days prior to the session opening.

Among the committee activity scheduled during the week are two hearings by the House Judiciary Committee. On Tuesday night it will take up bills to liberalize workman's compensation benefits, and a hearing will be held Thursday night on bills to provide increased unemployment compensation for jobless workers.

The House Temperance Committee was to determine today when a public hearing would be held on resolutions proposing a constitutional amendment to provide either the sale of liquor by the drink or make West Virginia a dry state.

House Speaker Harry R. Pauley said a caucus of the 85 Democratic delegates would be held early in the week to determine what revenue measures should be enacted by that chamber during this session. Senate Democrats were expected to wait until after the behind-closed-door House school athletic club.

sion before deciding whether to concur.

Also among the 20 bills at voting stage in the Senate was the first of several Democratic steering committee revenue proposals. It would raise from $5 to $8 the cost per day for treatment of private patients at state mental hospital clinics.

Broader Marshal Power

Other measures scheduled for a final vote included one to give the state fire marshal power over public buildings in municipalities and one to create an intermediate court in Wood County with jurisdiction over domestic relations and juvenile cases.

One tax measure was among the seven bills at passage stage in the House. It would extend the 2 per cent use tax to temporary businesses such as contractors. One other dealt with fire protection. It would create new standards for entering into and canceling of fire protection contracts between municipalities and citizens outside of corporate limits.

Another would allow Marshall College to raise from $1,350,000 to $1,900,000 the ceiling on its authority to sell revenue bonds to obtain funds for construction of an auditorium-gymnasium.

Burro Aids Goat Get Out Of Pasture

FULTON, Ky. (AP)—Farmer Otis Lecornu couldn't understand how his goat always got out of its pasture.

One day Lecornu hid behind a tree. The goat climbed onto a stump in the field and started baa-ing. A burro sauntered over to stump and the goat leaped onto his back.

Then the burro trotted to the fence and the goat bounded over the barrier.

CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—Four youths arrested for fighting have been ordered by a Casper justice of the peace to continue fighting. Justice Alice K. Burridge suspended $50 fines on condition the four boys enter boxing matches sponsored by a Casper high school athletic club.

Depressed Area Probe Is Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Robert C. Byrd (D-W. Va.) said today he would ask that a Senate subcommittee be sent to West Virginia, Kentucky and Pennsylvania to gather information for incorporation in the proposed aid to depressed areas bill.

Byrd, a co-sponsor of the measure, explained the group would attempt to determine how the states would benefit from the legislation. The bill would provide $375,000,000 in loans and grants to begin new industries in regions of chronic unemployment.

Forty-one of West Virginia's 55 counties would be immediately eligible for assistance, Byrd said, as would 14 urban areas—Charleston, Huntington, Wheeling, Beckley, Bluefield, Clarksburg, Fairmont, Logan, Martinsburg, Morgantown, Parkersburg, Pl. Pleasant, Roncoverte-White Sulphur Springs and Welch.

State Senator Talks Self Into Petition Counting Check

By CARLO J. SALZANO

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Inside the Statehouse: Sen. William Moreland (D-Montgall) talked himself into a tough job last week.

Moreland inquired whether Senate Temperance Committee Chairman Carl Gainer (D-Nicholas) was keeping a running total on the number of petitions received in opposition to liquor-by-the-drink legislation.

Senate Majority Leader Clarence Martin (D-Berkeley) then suggested that since Moreland's seat at the time a vote is taken seemed so interested he should do the tabulating. Gainer quickly seconded the motion.

The Senate took official notice this past week of the birthday of one of its members, this time that of Republican Sen. Theodore M. Bowers of New Martinsville.

Bowers did not disclose his age, but Senate Minority Leader John Carrigan (R-Marshall) noted that "like Jack Benny he is never more than 39."

Legislative records show Bowers is 52.

House Rule 25 was invoked in a rare occurrence, on Del. Spencer Creel (R-Wood) last week. It requires that if a member is in his seat at the time a vote is taken, he must vote.

Creel had abstained from voting on an amendment to the Kanawha County small claims court bill. Del. Phillip J. Graziani (D-Raodolph) called it to the attention of the speaker and Creel voted on later amendments offered.

So far in this legislative session, both Houses have passed and sent to the governor only nine of 578 bills introduced.

The House has passed 45 measures while the Senate has approved only 14.

Two measures have been de-juried. The House beat the bill. The Senate defeated a bill to set up a small claims court in that would have revised slightly Kanawha County.

MORE AND MORE PEOPLE ARE REALIZING:

THE BEST TOBACCO MAKES THE BEST SMOKE

Camel outsells every other cigarette—every filter, every king, every regular—for the 10th straight year!

After all the shouting, one quiet fact remains: it is superior tobacco that makes a superior cigarette. Smokers know it—and latest published sales figures prove it. The costly Camel blend of choice quality Turkish and domestic tobaccos has never been equalled for rich flavor and easygoing mildness. Yesterday, today, tomorrow, the best tobacco makes the best smoke.

Have a real cigarette - CAMEL

Football, as it is played today, is a far cry from its earlier days when the equipment furnished little protection in a knock-down, drag-out sport.

The game has become scientific with the passing years and, because it is a contact sport, is still regarded as rugged. But we never thought we'd see the day when football would become so genteel that players would be wearing spats.

However, that day has arrived. Evidence of this was noted in yesterday's sporting goods show of the Wilson Hardware Company at the Fraternal Order of Eagles Home.

The MacGregor Company is putting in mass production a spat that should help, not only football players, but athletes in all sports bothered with weak leg muscles.

The training spat, equipped with pockets filled with lead weights, fits around the muscle. Wearing it in practice or in conditioning exercises adds strength to the muscle. The spat, which weighs almost 3 1/2 pounds, was originated by Ernie Biggs, head trainer at Ohio State University.

K. G. (Red) Wallman, representative of the MacGregor firm, says professional golfers have used the spat with great success, as have swimmers. A golfer, he adds, finds that by wearing the weighted supporter for several holes, he gets new life in his legs for the remainder of the match.

Another MacGregor innovation is a football glove for linemen. It is a plastic padded affair which protects the back of the hand from spike wounds and other injuries while furnishing the linemen full use of his fingers. The glove is held in place by elastic bands around the wrist and fingers.

Another big step in equipment designed to reduce injuries, the "backhand" glove has been made legal by rules-makers and is expected to find wide use on the gridiron—scholastic, collegiate and professional—next season.

Also catching the eye of area coaches is a new helmet, five ounces lighter than the lightest helmet on the market today. The MacGregor Company was unable to supply the demand for the 25-ounce headgear last season but college teams that used it in 1958 reported players were highly pleased with the light helmet.

The Voil Rubber Company had on display a heavy-weight football designed for training passers. The ball is six ounces heavier than the regulation oval and Voil representative John O. (Buster) Smith says that passers who have used it in tests claim it is a boon to their specialty.

The principle is the same as a batter in baseball swinging a heavy stick before he goes to the plate. The regulation ball then becomes much easier to wave at the offerings of the opposing pitcher.

The practice ball is 19 ounces and Smith says the company is working on a heavier ball (23 ounces) for centers.

In these days when most teams are using the T-formation, centers get very little work in deep passing with the result that they frequently fail to get the ball back to their punters. Use of the 23-ounce ball in practice will add strength to their snap and make the long pass easy during a game, Smith said.

The Voil representative said the idea was conceived by a trainer at the University of Missouri who added lead weights to a practice ball.

Crout's Return Awaited

Local basketball fans, who used to enjoy those pro games that were staged here for about ten years following the end of World War II, will have a chance to see one of the all-time greats Wednesday night when Dick Crout brings his major league all-stars here.

An All-American at Duke, Crout has been a favorite with local fans ever since he won a battle with a snow storm five years ago to play here with an Army team from Fort Belvoir, Va.

Crout, last becoming one of the best shortstops in baseball, loves basketball but officials of the Pittsburgh Pirates slammed the door on him when he asked permission to play in the NBA. Now his cage activities are confined (Continued on Page 11)

Top-Ranked Kentucky In Spot For Ambush

Hot-Firing Miss. State To Engage Rupp's Cats

By United Press International

Top-ranked Kentucky, gunning for a basketball showdown with unbeaten Auburn on Feb. 21, is in a perfect spot to be ambushed tonight by hot-shooting Mississippi State.

Like a pair of rival gun-slingers in a "hoss opera," both Kentucky and Mississippi State fully realize how much is at stake in their meeting tonight at Starkville, Miss. Each owns a gaudy 10-1 record and each has an eye on the Southeastern Conference title.

Auburn, the conference leader right now and owner of the nation's longest winning streak, also will be in action tonight, trying for its 25th straight victory at the expense of Florida.

Plenty Of Activity

There will be plenty of more activity around the country, too, with second-ranked North Carolina facing Clemson; Seattle opposing Xavier of Ohio in an inter-sectional clash; Oklahoma going against Nebraska, and Army meeting Notre Dame in what always winds up a lively tussle regardless of whether it's basketball, football or just plain pitching horse-shoes.

Kentucky and Auburn, the nation's seventh ranked team, each scored convincing triumphs Saturday night during which only one of the top 10 teams bit the dust. That upset came about when Purdue toppled sixth-ranked Michigan State, 85-81, at Lafayette, Ind.

Kentucky, which has been knocking over all comers since its only defeat of the season against Vanderbilt a month ago, trounced Mississippi, 97-72, while Auburn brought its season record to 16-0 by crushing Georgia, 85-69.

Bailey Howell scored 22 points in leading Mississippi State to a 52-45 win over Tennessee. Howell remains one of the nation's leading scorers with a 27.9 point average.

Robertson Cans 21 Oscar Robertson was limited to 21 points as Cincinnati scored its 10th victory in a row by beating Temple, 90-60. Robertson, the leading scorer in the country, had an off night, connecting on only 7 of 17 shots, but teammate Ralph Davis hit for 22 points to help the Bearcats to their 15th victory in 18 games.

Third-ranked Kansas State crushed Colorado, 70-59; fifth-ranked North Carolina State licked South Carolina, 72-65; eighth-ranked Bradley defeated Drake, 71-50, and 10th ranked West Virginia huddled Holy Cross 96-90. Second ranked North Carolina and ninth-ranked St. Louis were idle.

Bowie May Have Banner Meeting

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—With a continued break in the weather, Bowie race track may be in for a banner 44-day meeting.

Sunshine and 48-degree temperatures greeted a record opening day crowd of 19,037 fans last Saturday and they responded by pouring a first-day record $1,424,924 into the mutuel machines.

For the first time in Maryland, the day's card included nine races. The new policy was instituted by the State Racing Commission recently to combat a similar move by New York.

After eight races Saturday, $1,273,096 had been handled by the tote department. That compared to the opening day take of 1958—also a Saturday—of $1,225,761 for an eight-race program.

Bowie this week features two stakes events—the $10,000—added Abraham Lincoln on Thursday and the $15,000—added Miss Maryland on Saturday.

West Virginia Battles NYU In New York

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia University's basketball team makes its annual visit to Madison Square Garden this week, facing New York University Thursday night at 9:20 p.m.

The Mountaineers and Violets will clash in the second game of a Garden twin-bill. The first pairs Manhattan and Syracuse. NYU has a 6-6 record.

Jerry West, WVU's 6-foot-3 All-American candidate from Cabin Creek, W. Va., found the Garden to his liking last year when he tallied 21 points in an 87-78 victory over St. John's.

Averages 25.9 Points

He has another year's experience under his belt and will be carrying a 25.9 average into Thursday's scrap after a 36-point effort in Saturday's 96-90 win over Holy Cross here in a nationally televised game.

On Saturday, the Mountaineers are at Richmond, Va., where they play a return engagement with the Richmond Spiders. West Virginia trimmed the Southern Conference foe 98-67 here Dec. 16.

West Virginia now is 18-3 on the season and has won 11 in a row and 31 straight at home. But Coach Fred Schauss would just as soon forget another streak his club has going—that of lagging at halftime and then slugging tremendous comebacks in the last 20 minutes of play.

Bolyard Ignites Attack They did it again Saturday, trailing Holy Cross 48-36 at the intermission before coming back to pin a six-point setback on the hot-shooting Crusaders.

That made the fourth such performance in the last four games, beginning with George Washington which held a 42-30 margin. William and Mary followed with a 42-24 halftime lead and Pitt was in front 36-34 last Tuesday.

West was held to only 13 points in the first half but kept the nets warm with 23 in the second. However, it was Bucky Bolyard, 5-11 senior from Aurora, who ignited the Mountaineers.

Bucky made 10 of West Virginia's first 11 points in the second half to send the Schaussmen on their way. He wound up with 21 points for the game and fellow guard Bob Smith of Charleston had 23 markers.

Centerville's Reds Rejoin Pen-Mar Loop

Centerville, one of the old standby power teams of the post-war campaigns, has rejoined the Pen-Mar Baseball League for the 1959 season. The Penny Reds will replace Zihlman.

The lineup change took place yesterday at a meeting of the league at Melody Manor, Bartelville. Zihlman had been in the circuit for 10 straight years while Centerville dropped out in 1957 with Salisbury, Pa., taking over its berth.

The league will again operate with eight clubs, four from Pennsylvania and four from Maryland. The seven holdover teams are Hyndman, Wellersburg and Salisbury of the Keystone State and Bartelville, Mt. Savage, Grantsville and Flintstone.

Earl M. Nonnenmann was re-elected president at yesterday's session. Jack Poisel, of LaVale, was named vice president, succeeding George McGann, of Mt. Savage.

Don Hansel, secretary-treasurer of the league for the past seven years, stepped down as secretary but retained the post of treasurer. Howard L. "Farmer" Northcraft, Cumberland, is the new secretary.

Mel Nee, who has managed Centerville and Mt. Savage in the Pen-Mar in past years, represented the Reds at yesterday's meeting. Other representatives were Bob Bryant, Hyndman; Bob Will, Wellersburg; Raymond "Buck" Morita, Bartelville; Dale Hoffman, Salisbury; Ralph Dickel, Mt. Savage; Charles Doyle, Flintstone, and Ray Lohr, Grantsville.

The schedule for the league's 11th campaign will be announced at the next meeting Sunday, March 8, at Melody Manor.

Hawks Need Only Two Victories To Cinch Tie

By United Press International

The St. Louis Hawks need only two more victories to clinch at least a tie for the Western Division title in the National Basketball Association—and they have 18 games in which to do it.

The Hawks, who defeated the Boston Celtics for the NBA title last season, came from behind in the final period Sunday to defeat the Philadelphia Warriors, 100-93. It marked their fifth victory in eight games this season over the Warriors and was their 38th in 54 games.

The Celtics, who are eight and one-half games in front of the second-place New York Knickerbockers in the Eastern Division race, posted an easy, 136-117 triumph over the Cincinnati Royals. The Celtics set one record and tied two others on the way to the victory.

When they scored 20 field goals in the third period, the Celtics wiped out the old league mark of 19 set by the Celtics in the 1950-51 season and tied by Detroit Pistons last season. Tommy Heinsohn, who scored 36 points in all, hit for 10 baskets in the same period to tie a record shared by Cliff Hagan of St. Louis and Dick Garmaker and George Mikan of the Minneapolis Lakers.

The second record they equalled came when they scored 48 points in the third period, matching the old mark set by the Baltimore Bullets in 1952.

The Syracuse Nationals ended New York's string of nine straight victories over them by defeating the Knickerbockers, 113-104, in the nationally televised game of the week and the Minneapolis Lakers zipped to a 115-103 victory over the Detroit Pistons in other games.

Bob Pettit, the league's top scorer, led the Hawks in their victory with 28 points. Hagan, another top scorer, clipped in with 20.

Dolph Schayes and John Kerr had 25 points each to pace the Nationals, who whittled New York's lead over them to four and one-half games, while rookie Elgin Baylor was the Lakers' big man with 27 points.

Bobcats To Face Altoona Tonight

Frostburg State Teachers College will be gunning to pull out of its winless ways tonight when taking on Altoona (Pa.) Center in the Mountain City at 8 o'clock.

The Bobcats have lost 14 games, one of the defeats being by the Pennsylvania quint, 78-59, early last month.

The contest is the first of three this week for coach Harold Cordts' cagers. They will meet West Liberty away Thursday night and then return home for a clash with Southeastern Saturday.

The game is the only one on tap tonight, the high school teams opening the week's slate tomorrow.

Bill Buck of Rice gained 84 yards with five pass interceptions during the 1958 football season.

"Third Commandment" Termed Heavy-Handed

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK (UPI)—NBC-TV's Kaleidoscope unboxed Sunday an earnest, but rather heavy-handed drama, "The Third Commandment."

Written by Ben Hecht, the piece dealt with a gag writer turned phony preacher and faith healer. Hecht had described it as an "iconoclastic comedy," but it was not very comic nor did it break any icons. It was merely a canon shot at a sitting duck, a rather naive and awkward assault against a target without defenses.

The surprising thing about "The Third Commandment" was that several of its players managed to turn in clean performances despite the broad and implausible parts they were assigned. Arthur Kennedy as the chief cheat and Richard Erdman and James Weston, who played a couple of second banana charlatans, were the most efficient of the laundrers.

It's almost impossible to have any opinion about the Friday night Phil Harris special on NBC-TV because nothing much happened.

It was, in many ways, the typical TV musical hour: Strong on female costuming, strong on chat about nothing, strong on cuteness, strong on smiles, strong on the manufacture of an endless chain of old pop tunes calculated to evoke a surface response in its viewers. What it was weak on was imagination, freshness, wit, taste, bloom and lake-a-chance-ness.

Dean Martin, Alice Faye and Betty Hutton were among the passengers on this voyage to nowhere. They were inoffensive except for Miss Hutton who seems to feel that energy is a substitute for talent.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Your letter in which the little girl (age 15) was "done wrong" by a soldier really irked me. I'll grant, not all soldiers are gentlemen, but what about the girls? You can't tell me that a 15-year-old girl doesn't know right from wrong. Don't be so quick to judge the soldier. It is equally wrong to put temptation before men who are weak. So who is really to blame? The soldier who fell or the girl who tempted him? JOHN

DEAR JOHN: Neither. The guilty parties are the parents of both who failed to teach their children the importance of high moral behavior and strength of character when the flesh is weak.

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column where the 15-year-old girl who got herself in trouble with a soldier. The same thing happened to my sister so I know how her family must feel. I am also a G.I. and if this girl will have me I will marry her as soon as I can get permission from my commanding officer. I am 20, while, Protestant, do not drink, smoke or curse and have never been arrested. I had plans for marriage but was jilted. I know I am a total stranger but feel that we could make a go of it. If the girl's parents want to contact me I will answer all questions about my background and character. Please don't print my name but send it to the girl along with my address. Thank you.

DEAR SOLDIER: Marriage is more than a mail-order agreement between a girl who needs a favor and a boy who is willing to grant it. Sorry, but I can't put you in touch with this girl. You are one in a million and I hope you unselfish and generous attitude will be rewarded by the happiness you deserve.

DEAR ABBY: About the 15-year-old girl who got herself into that mess with the soldier: Really, if a girl is dumb enough to fall for those lines before marriage, she should expect her lines to change, too.

MOTHER OF BOYS

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a girl who is 19 years old, engaged to be married and she asked her mother to give her a baby doll (a large one) for Christmas? She has a roomful of dolls in all sizes and colors. They are all over her bed, sitting in her windows and hanging from the walls. When I told her I thought she was too old to be playing with dolls she said she wasn't "playing" with them, she "collected" them. I say, "What's the difference?" Does she sound grown up enough to get married? HER FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Many grown-ups "collect" dolls as a hobby, and there's nothing babyish about it—unless the collector pretends she's the Mamma.

Areas For Sled Riding, Safety Rules Revealed

Sled riding areas have been established in all areas of the city. Street Commissioner John J. Long has announced.

He said plans for the sledding streets were worked out at a conference between C. Eugene Mason, recreation director, and Lt. Raymond N. Johnston, chief of the Police Department's Traffic Bureau.

The streets which will be barricaded for safe sledding are: South End — Race Street from Oldtown Road to Third Street.

Fort Hill — Cecil Street, from Ridgewood Avenue to Greenway Avenue.

East Side — Cecelia Street, from Maryland Avenue to Park Street.

West Side — Beall Street, from Allegany to Lee Street.

West Side — Chase Street, from Cumberland Street to Fayette Street.

North End — Chestnut Street, from Independence Street to Valley Street.

Bedford Road — Conrad Avenue, from Bedford Street to Frederick Street.

North End — Sylvan Avenue, from Piedmont Avenue to Franklin Street.

Long said the streets will be blocked off whenever there is a good snow for sledding.

When the plan is placed into effect, Recreation and Street Department crews will move barricades, equipped with red lanterns, to the sledding areas.

Cars will be allowed to enter the barricaded streets but only when due caution to the safety of children is considered.

Mason pointed out that parents in each sledding area will be expected to take turns supervising the sledding areas and watching out for cars. For years, parents have been cooperating whenever sledding areas are set aside.

Rules for sledding areas, worked out by the Recreation and Police Department, follow:

Do not run and slam your sled when starting. Many a person has slipped and injured himself severely while doing this.

Do not ride one on top of another, as most accidents occur when children are riding double.

Do not try to ram another sled. Keep clear of the track while returning with your sled.

Be careful of small children on the track.

Drivers — be extremely careful in sledding areas.

Parents — watch out for cars at the intersection and see that children obey the above rules.

Long reported that he had received a petition from residents of the Chestnut Street area, asking that the street not be called off for sled riding.

The street, one of the most popular sledding areas, has been included in the list.

A year ago, for instance there were nine January permits and the total builder-estimated cost was $30,800. The year before, there were 16 January permits and the total was a whopping $25,950. That was the month in which the permit was obtained for the $2 million shopping center which was proposed on Winchester Road. It never has come into being. In 1955 there were 12 January permits for $63,550. The figures for the first month of 1955 were 19 permits and $81,850.

Last month's five permits included two for new dwellings, two for summer cabins and one for a garage. Two permits, for the cabins, were in Election District 1 at Little Orleans. The others were Districts 8, Westernport; 17, Vale Summit, and 31, McCoole.

The Cumberland office of the Department of Employment Security handling unemployment insurance claims will remain open on Thursday, February 12, Lincoln's birthday. Robert B. Kimble, executive director, announced.

Among other department offices remaining open elsewhere in the state are those at Hagerstown, Frederick and Westminster, as well as part-time offices at Frostburg and Hancock.

Kimble said the department is keeping certain offices open because the size of the claim load in these areas make it difficult to pay two days' claims in one without long lines and undue waiting.

The winter fruit growers meeting for Allegany County orchardists and farmers will be held Thursday, February 19, at LaVale Fire Hall with five speakers listed.

County Agent Joseph M. Steger reports that this will be the fourth year for an all-day meeting of fruit growers in Allegany County.

He will return later for a brief discussion on research results in York Spot or Stippen.

Dr. B. L. Rogers, extension assistant professor in the horticulture department, is another of the morning speakers. He will discuss a new way to train apple trees, especially Delicious and later suggestions in the use of lime, fertilizers and mulch in the orchard.

After a recess for lunch at noon, E. F. Kresterson, assistant extension entomologist, will discuss the life histories of some orchard insects. Dr. Castillo Graham, associate entomologist, will follow with a talk on control of mites, rosy aphid, codling moth and other orchard insects.

Dr. Weaver then will return to the rostrum for a round-up of fruit diseases and fungicides. Dr. Graham and Dr. Weaver will then be called upon to give the 1959 Maryland fruit spray schedule. Adjournment is scheduled for 3 p. m.

Building Has Slow Start
Building permit activity in the county's assessment department had its slowest start in five years in January when construction valued at only $18,100 was begun. January is usually the slowest month of the year for building permits in view of the winter weather. However, none of the past four Januarys was as slow as last month.

A year ago, for instance there were nine January permits and the total builder-estimated cost was $30,800. The year before, there were 16 January permits and the total was a whopping $25,950. That was the month in which the permit was obtained for the $2 million shopping center which was proposed on Winchester Road. It never has come into being. In 1955 there were 12 January permits for $63,550. The figures for the first month of 1955 were 19 permits and $81,850.

Last month's five permits included two for new dwellings, two for summer cabins and one for a garage. Two permits, for the cabins, were in Election District 1 at Little Orleans. The others were Districts 8, Westernport; 17, Vale Summit, and 31, McCoole.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Tuesday, February 10, 1959

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — A stimulating day, on the whole. Quick action may be needed. However, stop first to see that you have proper information and knowledge. Avoid extremes, but have courage.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Several new avenues for advancement indicated. Be sure you are on the right road and, without loss of needless worry, proceed firmly. Activities requiring stamina and endurance especially favored.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — A good day for gathering data, planning advertising campaigns, promotional stunts, travel. Writers, educators, students, matters which require docility and keenness of mind favored.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer) — There is some hope to broaden experiments in new fields. Especially favored: those handling funds, restaurant workers, dealers in commodities generally.

JULY 22 to AUGUST 21 (Leo) — A good day for skilled work. Wise and clear planning and close check of details should bring the results. Extremely favorable rays for those connected with aviation. In mechanical work of all sorts.

AUGUST 22 to SEPTEMBER 21 (Virgo) — Your labor activity and knowledge of fabrics and accessories is encouraged now. Do your best, but don't overtax yourself.

SEPTEMBER 22 to OCTOBER 21 (Libra) — Especially favored now! Those engaged in research, scientific pursuits. But for all, an encouraging day.

OCTOBER 22 to NOVEMBER 21 (Scorpio) — Activities you like and for which you have natural talent are in the forefront in this stimulating day. Try out some new ideas, methods.

NOVEMBER 22 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — A good day for making advancement in business and financial transactions. Real estate dealings are also under propitious influences.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Impetuous lack of initiative could be tendencies now, so be on guard. Don't overdo or overreach your capabilities. Be realistic, and learn from past experiences; you'll come through ably.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Advice to Capricorn pertinent here. A consistent, progressive tempo from the beginning to end of the day will result in reasonable gain, perhaps new advantages. Keep an eye on "essentials."

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Some planetary restrictions. However, this can be time for advancement, fresh incentive for future action, solid gains.

YOU BEGIN TODAY are steadfast, reliable and progressive; seldom waste time, money or material. You are efficient, just, normally sound in judgment, thoughtful, kind and wisely generous. You may have in such a tendency to worry, to be over-sensitive, nervous; also to fear others' criticism. Inner line ability: abilities. (Fortitude: Charles Lamb, Eng. essayist, critic.)

Two-In-One Style

4780 SIZES 14½-24½

Maybe you would quit at four or five spades with the South hand.

If you stopped short of a slam you would wind up with game and rubber but you would be underbidding. The North-South hands definitely warrant a slam contract and it is just several bad breaks that beat the slam.

West opened the queen of clubs. If South had chosen to win in his own hand and lead the three of diamonds he would probably have made the hand. I am sure that West would have gone right up with the diamond ace.

However, South made what he considered a better play. He ruffed in dummy and cashed the king and jack of trumps. He had planned to overtake but when East showed out he had to abandon this plan. Instead he led a low diamond to his jack. West took his ace and returned the suit. South was back in dummy with no way to get to his own hand to draw the rest of the trumps.

North suggested that South should have gone to six diamonds but East can beat that contract by opening his singleton spade. Some days are just bad for slam bidders.

How would you bid the North and South hands? You would certainly start with North's diamond opening and South's one spade response.

Maybe you would only bid two hearts as North's second bid.

Man Sought In Slaying Found Dead

Search For Killer Of Wife Ends At Hagerstown Plant

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Frank Ellsworth Shaffer Jr., 36, who had been sought in the slaying of his wife was found shot to death today in a car.

Police said he had been killed with the same shotgun used to slay his estranged wife.

The man's body was in a car parked at the city sewage disposal plant on the southeast end of Hagerstown. Shaffer had been shot in the head.

Sewage plant employees said the car had been there two days but they didn't investigate it until today.

A murder charge had been filed against Shaffer.

On Saturday morning Shaffer walked into a tavern operated by his 34-year-old wife, Faith. From a long florist's box he took a shotgun. There was a blast from the gun and Shaffer fled from the scene.

Mrs. Shaffer died some four hours later in Washington County Hospital. She had been shot in the abdomen at close range. Hospital authorities estimated that 160 pellets struck her.

Two sons of the separated couple, 12 and 15, were taken to places of safety following the shooting.

Police Chief Blair Overton said he had learned Shaffer called a bartender in the tavern last week and revealed his plan to kill his wife and go to Florida.

"Requiem" To Be Sung

The Cumberland Choral Society will present Johannes Brahms' "Requiem," Monday, March 2, in Allegany High School auditorium.

Mrs. Pat Verdery, soprano, and Kenneth C. Wilson, will be soloists in the oratorio which features the familiar anthem, "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place."

Also on the program, the society will present Brahms' "Love Song Waltzes." These graceful songs were written for small vocal groups and two-piano accompaniment and bear the unmistakable influence of the Viennese at the time of its composition.

The waltzes will be sung by a newly-formed vocal ensemble of 16 voices chosen from the membership of the Choral Society. The singers will be accompanied by Mrs. Anne Fisher Garner and Mrs. William B. Ludman.

Liquor Move Unacceptable To Ministers

KINGWOOD, W. Va. (UPI)—Temperance leaders of the West Virginia Methodist Conference say the alternate liquor proposition introduced in the Legislature last week is "completely unacceptable" to them.

The Rev. Joseph Casey, Kingwood, chairman of the Methodist temperance group, called the resolutions offering a choice of liquor-by-the-drink or prohibition "a transparent effort" by liquor advocates to "force through their will while appearing to offer a reasonable choice to the people."

He said that "in reality, the choice offered in this proposal is not reasonable at all."

"Even if we wanted to confront the people with a flat choice between full prohibition and wide open liquor-by-the-drink, this proposal would not accomplish the purpose," Casey said. "The so-called prohibition amendment would still allow beer joints to continue operating."

"Some people who do not favor complete prohibition, on the one hand, or wide open license on the other, would like to vote for something greater restrictions on the sale of beer. Such people's sentiments should not be ignored."

Traffic Normal

BARBOURSVILLE, W. Va. (UPI)—Traffic was back to normal today on the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway lines near here, temporarily blocked by a derailment of two empty coal cars over the weekend. The derailment apparently was caused by an air hose break.

Hearings Set This Week In Legislature

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Movie censorship, state highways and Court of Appeals reorganization share top billing this week as the Legislature tackles its busiest committee calendar of the session.

Gov. Tawes also is scheduled to make his second appearance before the assembly in an address before a joint session of the Senate and House, probably on Thursday. He will discuss his plans for reorganizing the State Roads Commission as a seven-member agency to replace the present three-member group and to make changes in its right-of-way division.

The question of whether children under 18 should be prohibited from seeing movies considered morally unfit for them will come before the House and Senate Judiciary committees at a joint hearing Wednesday.

Finance committees of the two houses, which will be conducting budget hearings daily, will meet together on Tuesday and Wednesday nights to receive an annual report on highway construction from the State Roads Commission before Gov. Tawes comes in with his reorganization plan.

The governor listed SRC reorganizing as one of his major campaign goals. He is expected to propose a seven-member commission to replace the present three-member agency, with one of the six designated for the dual job of chairman and State highway director.

They will represent all geographic areas of the state. Tawes is expected to spell out the details in his address.

The Court of Appeals organization bills to be aired by Judiciary committees Thursday were recommended by the State Bar Assn. They call for adding another judge to the five-member high court and creating a new intermediate Court of Special Appeals to assume part of the caseload now being carried by the single bench.

Among other hearings scheduled during the week is one tomorrow on a bill to authorize development of park and recreational areas along U. S. 40 between Hancock and the Pennsylvania line in Garrett County and one Thursday by the Senate Labor Committee on a bill to require railroads to pay their employees weekly.

Urban, Rural Planning Bill Before Legislature

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Bills to provide a new approach to urban and rural planning and development, and to create redevelopment councils in each of the state's 55 counties, were among 16 introduced in the West Virginia Legislature today.

Sens. William A. Moreland (D-Montgomery) and J. Horner Davis (D-Kanawha) sponsored the measure which would rewrite present provisions of state law regarding zoning procedures.

Davis and Dels. Eudora Andrews and John Goshorn (both D-Kanawha) introduced the Democratic legislative steering committee proposal to set up redevelopment councils under guidance of the State Industrial and Publicity Commission.

The Moreland-Davis measure would let county courts and municipalities create planning commissions charged with preparation of development plans. They would take into consideration future highway locations, factory placement and expansion and promotion of health, education and recreation facilities.

The commissions, composed of not less than five nor more than 15 members, would submit the plan to county courts and city councils for adoption. The measure grants the governing bodies authority to implement the work. The redevelopment councils provided for in the steering committee bill would operate only during the next two years, under the general supervision of an assistant director of the I&P Commission.

The councils, to be created in each of the 55 counties to serve until June 30, 1961, would be charged with compiling information to be used in the promotion of industrial and business development in the county.

Their work would include surveys of the potential labor supply, factory sites, transportation facilities and other related items.

Legislation was introduced by Dels. Don Booth and Mike Case (both D-Cabell) to bring chiropractors within provisions of the
